LOVE POTION MURDER SOLVED

6-Year-Old Drowns In Eddington

A six-year-old Philadelphia boy drowned in Spring Lake, near State Road, Eddington, yesterday afternoon when members of a search party scouring the woods for him refused to believe he was in the water.

This was the third drowning in the area over the four-day July Fourth weekend.

The victim, Thomas Miller, of 3131 N. F. St., Philadelphia, was playing on a rowboat with two companions. The companions, who are brothers, Ernest, 5, and Billy Selter, 9, told Bensalem Township police that the boat started drifting from shore with Thomas hanging on the side.

Drops Off

The boys said Tommy dropped off the boat into the water and didn't come up.

According to Patrolmen George Campbell and Patrick Meehan the boys said they reported the incident to several adults who had started looking in the woods for Tommy. The adults who apparently did not believe the boys paid no attention to the story.

When the officers, who had checked the lake on routine patrol, shortly after 4 p.m., heard the story of the two boys, they called the Interstate Marine Association for help. Units from Cornwells, Union and Croydon Fire Companies as well as the Bucks County Rescue Squad responded.

Body Recovered

The victim's body was recovered from the lake at 4:30 p.m. Volunteers administered artificial respiration to the victim until he was pronounced dead at 5 p.m. by Dr. Glenn W. Bricker, of Levittown.

Terrace Home

The Public Housing Administration has dropped the sale price for homes in Bristol Terrace I by between $300 and $550, it was reported today.

But Lenox B. Markley, president of the Bristol Terrace Civic Association, said the prices are still too high.

The price drop came through the efforts of Congressman Willard Curtin who has been conferring with top PHA officials in Washington, Markley said.

Make Trip

The PHA had placed the homes in the war time project up for sale at prices ranging from $5,900 to $12,000. Residents have protested through the association, that the prices were too high. Markley and other officers of the group made one

'Hungry' Thieves Get $9,000 Jewels

Looters Stop For Steaks In Makefield Job

Lower Makefield Township Police were working on the theory today of an "inside job" in the weekend burglary of about $9,000 in jewels and three pounds of steak from a fashionable Lower Makefield home.

Chief Robert Waterson said an 18-alarm has been sent out on the missing jewelry taken from the home of Robert Rush Dwelly, East Ferry Road.

The chief said there were no signs of forcible entry and the robbers apparently had a key and just walked into the home.

There was no evidence of any ransacking, and the chief said this was "an indication the thieves had been in the home before and apparently knew exactly where to go."

Couple Not Home

At the time of the robbery, Mr. Dwelly, an insurance broker for a New York firm, was at work and his wife was out of the house between 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. when the theft was discovered.

A gardener, Frank White, was the only person on the grounds at the time of the theft. He told police he saw nothing.

Steal Steak

Chief Waterson said the burglars stopped on their way out after taking the jewels and stole three pounds of steak from a kitchen refrigerator.

No cash was taken, the chief said.

More than 40 pieces of jewelry were taken including a $1300 emerald and diamond ring set in platinum and a $1000 three-stone diamond ring.

Chief Waterson investigated the theft along with trooper James Fallace of the Fairless Hills barracks, Pennsylvania State Police.

Plenty Heat, No Heavy Rain

Lower Bucks will be caught in the web of July heat and steam today but a heavy all-day soaking rain-something we haven't seen since way back in April is nowhere in sight.

The Weather Bureau at Trenton forecast a chance of showers this afternoon but with little intensity.

Temperatures are expected to charge into the 90's this afternoon, drop to 70 overnight and march back into the 90's tomorrow.

The outlook for tomorrow is for continued hot and humid weather with an afternoon high in the 90's.

Showers again are forecast for

Tomatoes Save Water

That wasn't another plea to conserve water that you heard broadcast in Bristol borough over the weekend. The unclearly amplified message concerned a different thirst-quenching item, juicy tomatoes.

The tomato vender attached a loud speaker to his truck as he drove through the borough announcing his wares. Apparently garbled to those who heard it from far away, his spiel was mistaken for an appeal not to wash cars or to sprinkle lawns.

How many tomatoes the vendor sold, was not possible to learn, but the borough engineers report the garbled message did save plenty of water this weekend.

They're Really Identical!

So completely identical, in fact, that when their first baby tooth was lost, it was the same one for each of them.

Ex-President Coolidge's Widow Dies

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UP)—Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, 78, a school teacher who married a country lawyer and became first lady of the United States, died today.

She died at 12:50 a.m. e.d.t. at her home here.

Mrs. Coolidge died in her sleep. With her was her son, John, Dr. James H. Averill said death was due to a heart condition but added that an autopsy would be performed.

Doctor On Vacation

Mrs. Coolidge's regular physician, Dr. Hugh Tallock, had been treating her for many years, but is presently on vacation.

Mrs. Coolidge, one of four surviving former first ladies, was discharged in March from Cooley Dickinson Hospital.

She entered the hospital Feb. 25 for "medical treatment" and five days later suffered a cardiac and kidney failure.

Good Evening!

Long drought.

You know, we really haven't had a good, soaking rain since late April and the grass, the flowers, the vegetables and the farm crops show it. Wells and reservoirs also going dry.

Maybe the weatherman should be doing something about this?

You note what those Philadelphia Phillies did in Brooklyn during the weekend?

Right back in third place again after twice beating the Dodgers yesterday in a couple of magnificent ball games and like we've been repeating for the past six weeks, don't ever give up on the Smith boys.

They've won six of their last seven and beginning Thursday no reason why they can't continue the streak.

Nation's highway death toll for the long, long, long weekend passes the 400 mark.

Well sir, that's well below National Safety Council estimate of 535, but it's positively nothing to get excited about.

What we've really got to worry about is some way to persuade people to quit using the highways to kill each other. Maybe those old time western gunmen had the right idea—at least they gave the other fellow a chance.

Some 53,000 Boy Scouts moving into Valley Forge this week in one of the greatest and most unique encampments of its kind anywhere, anytime.

It should be quite an experience for every one of 'em, quite an experience for the nation to have 53,000 of its best rubbing shoulders with history.

Anybody hot? We never said a word!

If you're driving, be careful.

35,000-Foot Fall KO's Local Pilot

Lt. Thomas W. Jackson, the Langhorne Navy pilot who safely escaped from his disabled Tiger jet fighter plane over California yesterday, was unconscious during the entire 35,000 ft. parachute descent, he told his mother by telephone last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, of 643 Conly Road, was informed by her son that he was discharged from a hospital at French Camp and returned to Moffett Field.

He's Thankful

"Thankful that he escaped to safety? I should say he was," Mrs. Jackson told a Bristol Courier and Levittown Times reporter this morning.

"He said he didn't remember a thing after he pulled the rip cord," the flyer's mother said. "The high altitude must have knocked him out. He woke up on the ground with a lot of people around him."

The Levittown boy is recovering at home following the accident several weeks ago, which cost him his right arm.

Contributions can be sent to the Marty Brennan Fund, Levittown Times and Bristol Courier, Levittown, Pa.

Funds credited to the Farmbrook section of Levittown last week were actually collected on Friendly Lane in that section.

Boy Slain To Use Skull For Witchery

VINELAND, N.J. (UP)—A Puerto Rican farm handyman has admitted he killed a teen-aged boy last October to get the top of his skull to make a love potion. Police Capt. John Barsuglia announced today.

Barsuglia said the dramatic admission of the "black magic" slaying was made by Juan Rivera Aponte, 45, handyman on the farm of Idek and Celina Rosenblum. Polish displaced persons who gave him a job two years ago.

The police captain said Aponte admitted the strangulation of 13-year-old Roger Carletto, who disappeared last Oct. 13 and whose body was recovered from a chicken house on the Rosenblum farm last Tuesday.

The boy was killed and buried in the chicken house where Aponte lived after the handyman had read a book on black magic, and thought he needed a dried human skull to complete a potion to enable him to cast a spell over women, Barsuglia said.

The police said the top of the boy's skull was found in a stove in Aponte's quarters in the chicken house.

Barsuglia, outlining Aponte's alleged confession, said the handyman told him the Carletto boy walked into the chicken house and asked for a cigaret just after the farm hand had finished reading a chapter in the magic book calling for the skull as a potion ingredient.

He said Aponte admitted he slugged the boy with his fists from behind, and then strangled him with a cord.

Aponte buried the boy in the house, and proceeded to water his grave three times daily, according to Barsuglia.

He opened the grave seven months after the slaying, cut off the top of the youngster's head, and placed it in the dismantled stove to dry, the police captain said.

The boy's body was uncovered by police last Tuesday after Aponte told police that Rosenblum was the slayer.

He said he had seen the farm owner kill the boy, and had helped

Philly Police Kill Suspect

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Donald Isaacs, 20, of Philadelphia, was shot and killed in a police chase Sunday, the second robbery suspect killed by police bullets in 26 hours.

Isaacs was chased for two blocks by Patrolman Howard Fischer who saw him attempting to break into parked automobiles. The patrolman said he fired two warning shots in the air and then a third bullet at Isaacs' legs.

Homicide detectives said the bullet apparently ricocheted from the pavement into the suspect's back. He was pronounced dead at Philadelphia General Hospital.

A police search of Isaacs' clothing produced a flashlight and some other items allegedly stolen from the parked car of Mrs. Rita Formley.

Silas Beecham, 25, armed with a revolver, was shot fatally Saturday by one officer as he held his revolver against the stomach of another policeman.

Ingrid, Daughter In Hectic Reunion

PARIS (UP)—Ingrid Bergman had the first reunion with her 18-year-old daughter Jenny Ann Lindstrom in a happy and confused scene at Le Bourget Airport today.

Jenny Ann is Ingrid's daughter by her former marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom, a brain surgeon whom the famous actress gave up to marry Italian movie producer Roberto Rossellini.

Today's was the first meeting between mother and daughter in six years, and only the second between them since Ingrid gave up home and family in 1949 for her tempestuous romance with Rossellini.

Ingrid flew here from Rome for the reunion, and Jenny Ann flew in from Stockholm, where she had gone over the weekend with her father.

Jenny's plane from Stockholm was delayed half an hour, but Ingrid was there on time for the scheduled arrival. Photographers and reporters mobbed Ingrid first and then she and her daughter. Ingrid became irritated at this

200 Bucks Scouts Ready For Jamboree

Five special troops of Bucks County Boy Scouts, 200 boys, will board a chartered bus in Dublin tomorrow morning to ride to the national Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge State Park.

There they'll join 55,000 boys from all over the nation and many foreign countries, living in tents, cooking out over charcoal and joining in fellowship. The Bucks County contingent includes 111 scouts from Lower Bucks.

The county council will encamp at part of a section of 1500 boys, under the direction of County Scout Executive Ray Hoxworth. They will take an active part in the grand historical pageant officially opening the Jamboree Friday night. George Schmunk, assistant advisor of Explorer Post 69, Croydon, will portray General George Washington, riding across the giant amphitheater stage on a horse.

A co-director in the huge pageant will be William C. Rogers, Lenape District executive, of the Bucks County Council. The Bucks County scouts will return from the jamboree July 19. At the Jamboree site they will encamp where the First Pennsylvania Brigade of Gen. Anthony Wayne was encamped for the winter of 1777 to 1778, in the American Revolution, while Philadelphia was occupied by the British.

British Liner Hits Reef; Listing Badly

LIVERPOOL, England (UP)—The British luxury liner Reina del Pacifico crashed into a reef off Bermuda today, its owners reported.

The headquarters of the Pacific Steam Navigation Co., reported that a brief radio report from the 17,872-ton liner's captain did not indicate there was any major damage.

One report reaching London from Bermuda said the ship was "listing badly."

Paul Charges Politics In Sewers Delay

"Political grandstanding" was cited as a delaying factor in the solution of the present sewage issue in Makefield and Falls Township today by Jim H. Paul, chairman of the Falls Township Republican club.

"The issue would be solved in much less time," he said, "if it weren't for the political grandstanders grabbing the chance for headlines."

Paul criticized the "people who are neither opposing nor supporting sewers at present, but are just sitting on the fence waiting to see which side will jump on."

"We all agree that proper sewage is necessary and imminent," he said, "Just a year ago these political hacks were speaking of sewers as being a must regardless of public opinion, but now these headline hunters see a chance to shine."

Paul pointed out that "Paul Terrels, John O'Brien, David Struble, and Edward Howley are living in areas where they already have sewers. Only one of these men is a part of the Falls Authority, but, of course, no decision can be reached without their two cents."

Paul referred to the fact that of the four named democrats, only Ed Howley lives in Fairless Hills and uses the Township of Falls Authority, while the other three, living in Levittown, use the Lower Bucks Authority and are not immediately affected.

Court Hearing Girard Case

WASHINGTON (UP) The government's chief trial lawyer predicted today the Supreme Court will rule that GI William S. Girard should be turned over to Japan for trial for killing a Japanese woman.

Counsel for the 21-year-old Otawa, Ill., soldier forecast with equal confidence the court will insist on an American trial for Girard.

The conflicting claims were made as eight members of the high court prepared to meet in extraordinary session to hear formal arguments on the explosive Girard case. Justice William O. Douglas was in the Near East on an Asian tour and decided after conferring with his colleagues not to rush back for today's session.

The case has created a furor here and in Japan. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has said the reputation of this country for honoring its commitments is at stake. The United States agreed to let Japan try Girard but Federal Judge Joseph C. McGaraghy ruled otherwise June 18. The government is appealing this decision.

230 Children Attend 1st Recreation Session

The Levittown summer recreation program was started in motion at 9 a.m. today, with 230 children, a full 50 percent of those eligible, attending.

Sports, arts and crafts, ballet, story telling and library use were started under the program. It is open to boys and girls who live in Levittown, of kindergarten on through high school age. They do not have to attend the public schools.

Sessions are held Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon. The school bus takes children to the program, at the Walt Disney elementary school.

National Container Strike Enters 2nd Week

The week-long strike against the National Container Corp., State Road, Bristol township, continued today. A company spokesman said there was no progress to report in action to settle the dispute.

Three hundred employees, members of Local 375, AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, began the strike last Monday, after the company rejected a contract package accepted by six other members of the Philadelphia Container Association.

presidents. The others are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Harry S. Truman.

Mrs. Coolidge, gracious and charming, was born Jan. 3, 1879 in Burlington, Vt., of Puritan stock. She graduated from the University of Vermont and came here as an instructor at an institution for the deaf and dumb.

While here, she met Calvin Coolidge, then a struggling lawyer. They were married in 1905. He died in 1933 at the age of 60. A keen sports fan, Mrs. Coolidge especially loved baseball and was a staunch rooter for the Boston Red Sox. Until recent years, she was a familiar figure at Red Sox games at Fenway Park in Boston.

Mrs. Coolidge, gentle and retiring, entered the White House without social whirl or glamour. And as first lady, she retained the role of a simple New England housewife devoted to home, family and civic responsibility. She regarded herself simply as "Cal Coolidge's wife."

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Coolidge seemed to grow with the years. During World War II, she devoted most of her time to civic and social work, the Red Cross and church activities.

Her travels in later years were confined mostly to visits to the trip to Washington. As a result the PHA dropped its requirement for a five per cent down payment.

But it was not until Congressman Curtin intervened that the prices were actually dropped.

The price of single units was dropped $300, while the price of the two-family units was lowered $350.

Markley said that though the prices are still far above what the residents consider fair, the decreases are "the first in the stubborn attitude of PHA."

Prices High

He said the members of the association would accept prices ranging from $4,000 for single homes up to $7,000 for double units. Even these prices are high, he said, when the condition of the homes is taken into consideration.

He promised that the association would continue to fight for a price reduction until he and the board of directors are certain the last gain has been made.

Breslin Takes Over Bristol Cafe

2 Levittowners Hurt In Crash

Two Levittown residents were injured in an auto crash on Route 1 at Woodbourne Road, Middletown Township, 7 a.m. today.

Edith Hurst, 40, of 37 Old Pond Road, Orangewood, was admitted to Lower Bucks County Hospital with lacerations of the forehead and right leg. Raymond Currie, 30, of 36 Rustleaf Lane, Red Cedar Hill, the driver of one of the vehicles, was treated for a pain in the chest and brush burns of the left arm. The woman was a passenger in Currie's car.

According to Patrolman Bob Roach, Currie's car and a tractor, used to haul cargo trailers, collided in the middle of the intersection. The driver of the tractor was identified as Marquis P. Struble, 39, of Washington, N. J. Struble, driving for the Freight Line Equipment Company, of Scranton, was traveling west on Route 1. Currie was driving north on Woodbourne Road.

Each driver claimed he had a green light. Police are still investigating the accident.

False Fire Alarm Is Long-Distanced

DENVER (UP)—A false alarm telephoned from Houston, Tex., 1-100 miles away, sent four fire engines to 16 Ivy Lane in an exclusive Denver suburb before dawn Sunday.

Mrs. Rosemary H. Van Vleet, awakened by the engines, said the call probably was due to "family difficulties."

Jim Jordan, fire prevent chief, said he learned from the telephone company that the false alarm originated from the Houston residence of Mrs. Van Vleet's father, Gordon L. Harwell.

Jordan said he didn't know whether there was a law against interstate false alarms.

The Denver fire dispatcher did not know the call for fire department at 16 Ivy Lane was from Houston, because the long distance automatic dial system was used.

Twp. Board Will Hear 3 Zone Appeals

The Bristol Township Zoning Board of Adjustment will hear three appeals for variances at a meeting at 8 p.m. today in the township municipal building, 85 Holly Drive, Levittown.

Bristol Motel, Inc., has requested permission to erect a 694 square foot wooden sign off the right of way of the turnpike near Bristol-Oxford Valley Road. The township zoning code stipulates that all signs be 100 square feet or less.

A New Jersey man has asked a variance to build a miniature golf course and railroad on a lot bounded by Durham Road and Route 413 near the Bristol Farmers Market.

The third appeal for a variance is by Arthur Bloom. He wants to construct a house on a small lot in an R-2 residential area. Under his plans the front and rear yards are smaller than the zoning requirements permit. The lot is at the corner of Laing and Dixon Avenues, West Bristol.

Bristol Man Hurt In Crash

A Bristol man, who told police he couldn't remember anything about the accident, crashed against a guard rail in Falls Township this morning and was hurled from his car receiving injuries that required eight stitches in his forehead.

Officer Laurence Nolan said Clayton D. Fox, 3504 Rockview Drive, was driving along Route 13 when he drove onto the south ramp of Tyburn Road.

Police said the Bristolian couldn't shed any light on the accident but when they arrived the car was hooked against a guard rail and the door was completely broken from its hinges.

Fox was taken to the Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Union Fire Company ambulance of Morrisville. He received treatment for his injuries and was released.

Police said Fox will receive a summons for reckless driving.

Historic Showdown Starts On Civil Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (UP) — An historic showdown over civil rights begins in the Senate today under the shadow of a threatened massive filibuster by southern opponents.

Backers of the racial rights legislation were hopeful for the first time in years of ultimate success.

The epic battle gets under way this afternoon with a motion by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) to begin consideration of the House-approved administration bill.

The motion was expected to signal the start of a "discussion" by southern Democrats that promises to become a filibuster that will keep the Senate tied up four to eight weeks and toss on the scrap heap much of President Eisenhower's remaining legislative program.

However, there were signs the real, round-the-clock phase of the talkathon might be delayed for days or weeks. Southerners have indicated they may not stage an all-out filibuster against the mere motion to take up the bill.

This would permit a vote by the end of this week that would put the bill itself before the Senate, as Knowland hopes. All-night sessions then probably would be postponed for another week or so.

Such a vote undoubtedly would be hailed as an initial victory by rights backers. But for the southerners, who have managed to defeat similar legislation since Reconstruction days, it could be a strategic move to concentrate their forces on the all-out battle over the bill itself.

The President's four-point bill, modified somewhat by the House, would set up a special commission to investigate voting and other rights violations; establish a new civil rights division in the Justice Department headed by an assistant attorney general; prohibit private individuals, as well as officials, from interfering with Negro voting rights; and authorize the government to seek direct federal court action to forestall impending rights violations.

Seeing Levittown

By LEE GARB

Levittown Volunteer Fire Company 2 moved into its newly built home over the weekend and will hold its first meeting there tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The firehouse, which will be dedicated in September, is located next to the old Emilie Methodist Church at Five Points.

Meanwhile, we've some volunteer-volunteer firemen around Indian Creek section. Joe Prim and John Carney of Ivy Hill Road put out a rapidly growing grass fire that was discovered by John's daughter, Jacklyn. The firemen, upon their arrival said it could easily have gone out of control and thanked them for their good job.

Two years ago when we had this column and the very popular little money that was in Pomero's pet shop had been purchased by Lorraine Stelweck in Goldenridge, we had to give a report every once in a while on his progress...this, because he'd endeared himself to half the community before leaving the store.

We were terribly saddened to learn that he'd recently suffered a nervous breakdown and Lorraine had to turn him over to one of Ivan Sanderson's zoos. Understand it had something to do with his needing a mate.

Here's where the community can profit from one man's interest in solving his personal problem...Andy Ferez of Gridiron Road in the Goldenridge section, used to get a faraway look in his eyes at civic meetings. It turned out, every time he was questioned, that he was thinking of the rust stains on his Levittowner. It took hard, dogged experimentation on his part... patience on his wife's part... and the finish off the back of his carport until he finally hit on the solution. Now he's got it...a rust remover that doesn't hurt the finish, and a colorless anti-rust solution that makes it reasonably permanent.

And despite the fact that by trade he's an engineer with a full-time job, we hear that his Rosenblum was arrested and subsequently charged with homicide, despite his denials.

Barsuglia said a knife was found in the grave. At first it was believed to be the death weapon, but it was established during Aponte's recital of the crime that it was the implement used to cut away the boy's skull.

The police captain said Aponte began to hedge during questioning late Sunday and finally admitted the slaying today.

friends and neighbors, by their clamoring, have been pushing him into a part-time rust removing business. (How's it work on beetles, Andy?)

The Red Cross Swimming program got off to a good start today...it will continue from 10 to 11:30 a.m., through the summer and looks, this year, as though a bumper crop of swimmers will be harvested in Levittown.

A class in landscape PAINTING was recently announced by the Levittown Artist's Association and Bea Berlin's name and phone number (WI 3-2708) were given for contact. brating. But, comparatively, the figure encouraged the safety council and law enforcement agencies who have been trying to stem a holiday surge in the annual toll of deaths.

The all-time record for traffic deaths during the Independence Day holiday was 501, set in 1950.

This was the second straight holiday in which motorists scored a life saving record on the highways. Traffic deaths also ran near normal and far below estimates during the Memorial Day holiday.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, credited law enforcement agencies and motorists with "doing splendidly" in keeping the toll down.

Three states, Nevada, Rhode Island and Delaware, recorded no traffic deaths for the holiday.

Two fiery auto collisions Sunday killed a total of 16 persons and left another injured critically.

Nine persons were killed in the holiday's worst smashup near Oxford, Miss. Seven persons, including three small children, died in a collision near Newhall, Calif.

The Oxford accident, one of the worst in motoring history, occurred on Mississippi State Highway 6 in the early morning hours. Both cars burst into flames after the collision. The only survivor was injured too critically to be questioned about the wreck.

Morrisville, Trenton May Be Opponents

A battle may be shaping up between Morrisville and Trenton over the proposed apartment building being discussed in the borough.

It has been indicated that Louis Cahan, Trenton builder, is only "using Morrisville as a lever" to help push for speedier action from Trenton on approving construction of the modern apartment.

"It's certain Cahan wants to build the apartment. He'll build wherever he gets prior approval," one Morrisville councilman said.

"We feel the apartment building is necessary and would like to have it here as fast as we can," he said.

The borough's ordinance committee and planning commission will meet July 16 to discuss methods of altering the borough's zoning code to make the apartment building possible.

Another meeting will be set by the borough's ordinance committee shortly after the combined meeting to draft a new ordinance to provide for the building.

Plans have been discussed with borough officials by the builder for the completely modern, air conditioned, 14-story structure.

Yardley M.S. Fund To Fold

The Yardley Makefield Multiple Sclerosis Fund, an organization which was set up 3½ years ago to collect funds and give financial and other assistance to the sufferers of M.S. in this area, is disbanding.

The only known sufferer at that time was Mrs. Eugene Wnuk, 34 Cadwallader St., Yardley. Shortly afterwards Chester Carver of Woodside was diagnosed as having M.S., and since that time these two have been the recipients of the funds. Now, even though both are still in need of assistance, the organization, because of lack of funds, is disbanding as of August 1.

This organization wishes to thank most sincerely all those church and service organizations and individuals who have so generously helped during this 3½ years.

The Bucks County Committee of the Eastern Pennsylvania Chapter, The National M.S. Society, is now an active organization in this area.

40-Hour Week Plan Set Up For Police

Morrisville policemen will get half of the package deal on wage and hours adjustment.

John Sawyer, chairman of the borough's police committee, said he will recommend a 40 hour week for the policemen without a direct increase in pay.

He said the 40 hour week will be accomplished with the same pay as the borough policemen receive now for a 44 hour week.

In order to accomplish this, two new policemen will be added to the force in the near future.

The two new officers, not yet named, will be placed on the force on a probationary basis for the next six months.

At the end of the six months, one will probably be hired on a full time basis while the other is retained as an emergency officer or released completely.

At present Chief John S. Davis has seven full time borough policemen and several extra officers.

Two Cars Crash In L. Makefield

The car of a Trenton man and the car of a Morrisville driver collided last week in Lower Makefield Township.

Chief Robert Waterson reported that Douglas Southerland, Yardley Road, Morrisville, and Joseph Licciarello, 54 Butler St., Trenton, collided at the intersection of Black Rock Road and Glen Alden Road in the township.

Damage to the Morrisville man's car was estimated at $350 with damage to the Trenton man's car at $125.

Chief Waterson said no charges would be filed against either driver.

State Crashes Kill 29

By UNITED PRESS

The appalling death rate on Pennsylvania highways in the first 30 hours of the long Fourth of July weekend apparently served as a grim reminder to motorists to "slow down and live" in the waning hours of the holiday period.

State police said the homeward-bound traffic before the weekend closed Sunday midnight was below expectations. A trooper patrolling the Pennsylvania Turnpike said "it was a normal Sunday for traf-fic."

Three multiple collisions Thurs-day which claimed a total of nine lives gave Pennsylvania an un-wanted distinction of being among the early leaders in the nation's highway death toll.

A United Press survey showed at least 29 persons were killed in roadway accidents throughout the state in the 102-hour holiday week-end which began 6 p.m. Wednes-day.

The worst multiple accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Turn-pike when four vacationing Detroit residents, including a six-year-old girl, were killed. Police said the accident was caused when a wom-an driver fell asleep at the wheel.

Two New Jersey women and an 18-months-old boy were killed in a two-car accident near Lehigh-ton Thursday. And on the same day two teen-aged girls were killed in a head-on collision in Beaver County.

Sprinkler Saves Bristol Repair Shop

The sprinkler system in the Sears Roebuck and Co. repair shop on the second floor of part of the old Warner Steele mill, Lafayette St., Bristol, was credited with confining and putting out a fire that broke out Satur-day afternoon.

Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman said power machines and ma-chines in the shop for repairs were damaged by the sprinkler water, but no damage was done to the building. This morning he had not received an estimate of the damage.

The cause has not been de-termined, the chief said. Three sprinkler heads went off automatically, the chief said. The fire was kept to a corner of the shop. Firemen were called from a store of Pear St., where the smoke was observed, at 5:30 p.m. Consolidated and No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and No. 6 companies answered the call.

When they received the call, the Bristol firemen were at the scene of a fire at the Bristol borough dump. The dump fire, of unknown cause, sent smoke fumes over Mill St. and the Third Ward of the borough.

Police Quiz 7 'Hoodlums'

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — State police have questioned seven "hoodlums," ranging in age from 16 to 19, in connection with the severe beating of a Grapeville man with whom they had an argument in a lunch counter here yesterday.

In Monsour Clinic at Jeannette was Lawrence L. Harrold, 26, who suffered a possible fractured skull and severe bruises of the face and head.

Police said the gang followed Harrold to the home of a relative in Jeannette. When Harrold got out of his automobile to pick up his children, the youngsters set upon him.

Harrold's father-in-law, Robert A. Tobias, and Tobias' daughter, Mildred, 15, went to the victim's assistance and they also were beaten, but less severely.

The attackers were held in West moreland County jail here.

"Hoodlums, that's all these kids are, hoodlums," a state trooper said.

Segregation Trial Starts

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Fiery segregationist John Kasper and 15 reluctant codefendants go on trial in Federal Court today in a case that may provide fuel for the concurrent civil rights showdown in the Senate.

In fact, said the chief defense counsel Robert L. Dobbs of Mem-phris, "it is my considered opinion that there may be political signifi-cance" in the coincidence of dates.

In the first concerted federal ac-tion to insure orderly school in-tegration, the 16 were accused of conspiring to violate an injunction not to interfere with racial mixing at nearby Clinton, Tenn., high school last November.

It was the second time up for ex-Yankee Kasper, a roaming man of many causes who is now a white supremacist. He is appeal-ing a year's sentence for an ear-lier charge of violating U.S. Dis-trict Judge Robert L. Taylor's same injunction in the Clinton case.

Girl Leaps To Death

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP) — A 19-year-old girl leaped to her death Sunday from the 12th floor of a downtown hotel — apparently be-cause of a broken romance.

The body of Sylvia Pettit, a stu-dent who lived in nearby Tonawanda, struck the roof of a parked car, caromed off the side-walk and landed in the street.

Police said a note found in her purse read in part:

"I only know I loved you. May our love live in our hearts and be treasured in our memories for-ever... ours was a love honest and pure, something to be proud of. I just didn't feel that it would be right, and that it would be better this way..."

Washington St. Extension Work May Start On Friday

Morrisville's long discussed Washington St. extension may move to an "earthy" conclusion Friday with the possible cutting of the ground for the street.

John Sawyer, chairman of the borough committee on the street question, said contracts for the street will be accepted by the borough council from the prop-erty owners at Tuesday's regular council session.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the borough hall.

Mr. Sawyer said if the con-tracts are accepted for the ground "without hitch" construc-tion work will begin Friday.

"This thing has been batted around long enough and we are hopeful the final settlement will come Tuesday with the work starting Friday," he said.

Four contracts involving the street are to be taken under con-sideration by council at this ses-sion.

Three groups and the contract of one individual with the bor-ough will be studied.

Property owned by Paul Sulli-van for the street has already been condemned.

The Howell property will be purchased by the Mordel Corp. and turned over to the borough free of charge.

Mr. Sawyer said before the work is begun, sewer and water lines will have to be laid for the street.

"We are trying to get the final approval without any further de-lay in order to get the sewer and water line work going," Mr. Sawyer said.
